Clockwise: We're a happy family. Jeanne D'Entremont, Leah Mastromatteo, Liza Homan, Kerri Lyman, and Emily Tobin flash their pearly whites for the camera. Please don't call on me... Patrick Callahan casts an apprehensive glance to the side. Now I get it! Erin Long explains a point to Cara Murtagh. Isn't this interesting? Carolyn Flynn, Kelly Thompson, Damon Deluties, and Christopher DiMambro listen intently to the morning announcements. Cleaning up. Lisa Cangiamilla and Jennifer Doak share a sponge in the art room.

Clockwise: "What am I doing here?" Sarah Callahan contemplates the meaning of Spanish Life. "How do you do this anyway?" Charles Lipsett, Darren Rillovick, Eric Dugan, and Rob Avery work intently on their homework. Posing for the camera. Kristina Scanzani — Fenwick's version of the Mona Lisa. "Would anyone like some?" Emily Tobin offers to share her "Dentyne." "Smile, you're on candid camera!" Alice Reagan reacts to an unexpected photograph.

STARRING ROLES

"Quiet on the set! Greetings ladies and gentlemen, and welcome to the glamorous world of Fenwick. Today we will give you a tour of Fenwick, showing you the various studios, and the action that takes place behind the scenes. Hopefully, we will also afford you with a glimpse into the lives of the famous actors and actresses who work here in tinseltown.

We begin our tour at the sight of the entrance to the Fenwick Studios. This is where it all begins. Numerous actors and actresses, many struggling to survive, enter these golden gates with nothing more than the solitary hope of fulfilling their dreams of stardom. They look at Fenwick as the key that will unlock the door behind which fame and fortune lie.

Four years ago, the actors and actresses presently working at Fenwick entered those golden gates for the first time. The producers and directors at Fenwick could discern that this particular group of actors and actresses had the specific quality they were looking for: courage.

To become a star one must be courageous. The directors and producers knew this to be a fact. You must risk being laughed at; being told that you can't cut it in this business. Not one of the actors and actresses that entered Fenwick that day long ago lacked the courage the Fenwick executives were looking for. They were challenged, but met those challenges. They felt embarrassed at times at the errors they made, but faced their mistakes and improved as a result. They never once doubted that their dreams would come true.

Today, these actors and actresses are leaving the Fenwick Studios to pursue their own solo projects. They have enjoyed the exciting Fenwick life, yet they know there is more awaiting them beyond those same golden gates they walked through four years ago. One yesterday, many years ago, they walked in poor, and alone, but today they walk out together with pride as the Class of 1993."

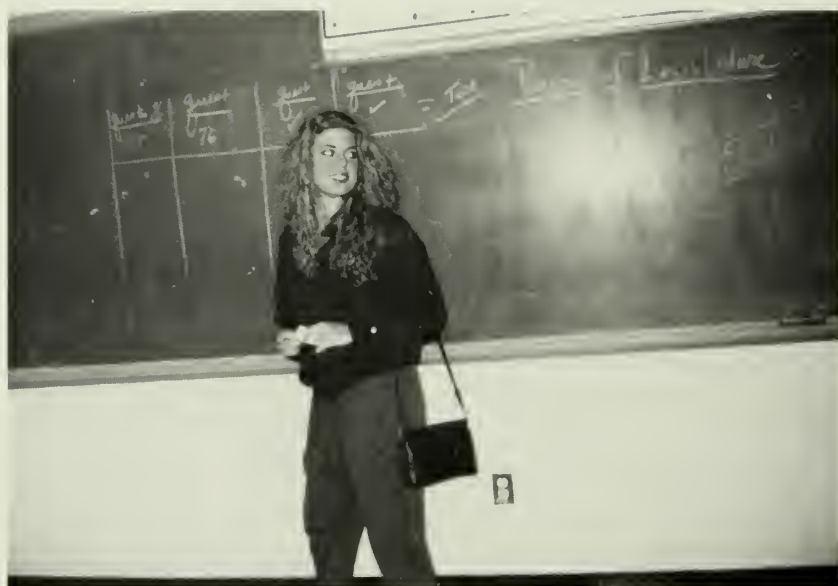

Clockwise: "Did somebody call my name?" Katia Shairs looks over her shoulder. "You look marvelous!" Jeanne D'Entremont and Katie Collins show off their new shades. The Magic Kingdom of Fenwick. Mark Williams and Eric Dugan share a laugh with their heroes, Mickey and Minnie. "I want to be in the picture, too." James Armitage finds a way to be photographed with Sean McCrea and Shane Rein. Future leaders: Members of the "Fenwick Family" join to discuss the future. Group hug! Fenwick seniors get a little closer.

Clockwise: "Should I push them off?" Jason Craig struggles with this decision. "What's so funny?" Janet Scanlon and Lisa Bella chuckle at the unknown. "You shouldn't be at your locker." Denise Davies keeps an eye out for teachers as Laura Mannix sneaks into her locker between classes. "Which foot goes first?" Seniors and their buddies try to get coordinated for the three-legged race. Don't hurt it. Mike Lapham persuades Doug Lowe to go easy on the poor pumpkin. "Look at my pearly whites." Kelly Doherty and Hilary Crane show off their smiles.

Buddy Bonding

Freshman-Senior Buddy Day is not an ordinary day at Fenwick. It is a time to begin new friendships and to create new memories.

The event starts with a mass given by our favorite chaplain, Fr. Jim. then the seniors and their buddies gather together for lunch, which gives them a chance to get to know each other even better. Following lunch, limbo, volleyball, soccer, and the three-legged race are just a few of the activities that everyone participates in to have a more fun and exciting time.

As the day comes to a close, the poem "I call the moment Fenwick," is read by the president of the senior class. This part of the day gives everyone a chance to relax, and to reflect on what Fenwick means to them and the unforgettable times that will never be forgotten.

Freshman-Senior Buddy Day is a special occasion that brings together two classes: one that represents the past three years and another that represents the future of Bishop Fenwick.

—Deirdre Wirtanen

Clockwise: Group portrait. The seniors and their buddies gather together. You're like a sister to me. Emily Tobin and her freshman buddy form a bond. Here we go! Lorraine Mejia and Michelle Weeden head under the limbo pole.

Clockwise: Best Friends. Kevin Farley and Michael Wenzel indulge in some male bonding. Open Wide! Sean Spates and Adam Scarcella feed Robert Avery. Day-O! Ted Manley goes low. The Three Musketeers. Lesley Nadeau, Julie Forry, and Sarah Desmond are "all for one and one for all." Friends Forever. Jen Guptill and Cara Murtagh get acquainted.

The Grand Ball

Clockwise: A perfect couple. Becky Charron and Matt Grocki smile pretty for the camera. Is there a full moon? The party animals are out in full force at the Prom. Where the rest of the boys are. A mixed bag of Fenwick men show us how to make a group picture. Down and out in the Fenwick Hills. These lovely ladies must be waiting for their Princes Charming. A romantic setting. Craig Burkinshaw and his date settle down for dinner.

A perfect ten. Fenwick students and their dates model their formal wear for the yearbook. Where the boys are. Yet another group of Fenwick's finest show off at the Prom. This is a Kodak moment. Emily Tobin and Jason Moore share a dance. Future Models of America? No, it's a group of beautiful Prom attendees. Aren't we dressed to thrill? These prom goers are looking their best.

— St. Elmo's Fire

Next Role: To never forget all that my family and friends have done for me and to always remember that without their support I wouldn't be where I am today. Thanx for everything.

Keith A. Dupuis

We'll get higher and higher, straight up we'll climb. Higher and higher, leave it all behind.
Higher and higher who knows what we'll find and in the end
on dreams we will depend /cause that's what love is made of.

— Van Halen

I'll hike far and face up to my problems whatever they are.

— Dr. Seuss

Next Role: To be doing the Foxy with a few select friends showing "them" that together we have all we'll ever need. And also to thank my Mom, Dad, my sister Erin and Rob for always being there.

Sarah Flynn

Whoever said, "If you can't beat the competition, join them," obviously did not have enough money to buy them out.

— Sarah Flynn

Next Role: To make such a fortune through corporate raiding,
that I will never have to say "I can't afford it" again.

Julie L. Forry
One day when we all reminisce we'll all say there wasn't too much we missed, and though the tears we'll smile
when we recall we had it all for just a moment.

— St. Elmo's Fire

Next Role: To live happy, successful, and full life, always remembering what my family and friends have showed me.
Special thanks to Mom, Dad,
and (my brother) Mark. Thanks for the summer of '91 — it was the best!

David Galopim

When everything that could possibly go wrong, goes wrong,
pick your head up, look sharp,
and take some pride in yourself.
When you take care of the little things, all the big things fall into place.

— Mr. C.

Next Role: Where you can look but you can't touch, having a farewell toast back in Canada
with my best friends.

Elizabeth Garcia

For a while I shall be leaving,
Looking back at you as you slip away/ Into the magic islands of the mind./ But for a while now all live, believing that in a single poignant hour, We did say all that we could ever say.

— May Sarton

Next Role: My future goal is to work at the U.N. as an international lawyer. I want to thank my parents and everybody that has stood by me these four years at Fenwick.

Jacqueline A. Gaudet

John Henry

These are the seasons of emotion
And like the winds they rise and fall

This is the wonder of devotion —
I see the torch we all must hold.
This is the mystery of the quotient

Upon us all a little rain must fall.

— Led Zeppelin

Next Role: Unwritten.

Marty Hines

rounded by the ones I love (preferably on the sunny beaches of Florida).

Sarah LePage

We'll grow up and we'll grow tough and kind, brave, and scared. We'll grow up to be leaders; and couples with a mortgage. And we'll grow wise, but that doesn't mean we have to grow apart.

— AT & T

Next Role: To never waste my time on Rt 41 again, to choose my company wisely, and always be able to laugh.

Julie L'Heureux

Life is very short and there's no time for fussing and fighting, my friends.

— The Beatles

Next Role: I'll be doing anything and everything I set my mind to and of course, I'll stop at Buxton before I get there.

David Limongiello

Vision is being able to see the majority. Determination is the discipline to remain consistent regardless of the obstacles or odds to see your vision through.

— Pastor Jonathan del Turco
Next Role: To graduate college, then give to youth what has been given to me by my parents, my pastor, and most of all, by God.

Charles Lipsett

You may be whatever you resolve to be.

— Stonewall Jackson

Next Role: To grow old and die.

Eryne Long

Something like this only happens once in a lifetime — other things come your way, and each moment, each experience, is different. Each one only happens once. And if you let the moment pass you by, it's gone forever.

— Unknown

Next Role: Kickin' back, relaxing, and hangin' out with my best friends on the beaches of California. Thanks Mom, Dad, and everyone who helped me make it through high school.

Kerri Lyman

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you're trudging seems all uphill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high,
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit —
Rest if you must, but don't you quit
Success is failure turned inside out —
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit —
It's when things seem the worst that you musn't quit.

Dan Macione

Keep your eyes on the road, your hand on the wheel, yeah we're going to the road house. Going to have a real good time. Let it roll — baby roll — all night long.

— The Doors

Next Role: To materialize my goals and ambitions.

Heath MacVittie

It is better to keep quiet and let people think you're a fool. Then to open your mouth and let them know for sure.

— Robert "The Warrior" Ginty

Next Role: Sports Journalist, Broadcaster.

Edward Manley

We go out in the world and take our chances. Fate is just the weight of circumstances, that's the way that lady luck dances.

— Rush

Next Role: Headin' to Canada with all my best friends. After that — who knows!

Laura Mannix

The great pleasure in life is doing what people say you cannot do.

— Walter Bagehot

Next Role: After a brief visit to Buxton with some old friends, I'm on to four fabulous years of college, and from there possibilities are endless.

Dawn C. Marino

I always knew that looking back on us crying would make me laugh, but I never thought that looking back on us laughing would make me cry.

Next Role: To follow my dreams and be successful, to always remember the good times I have had and to never forget that the best is yet to come.

Dimitrios Markos

Someday, you'll be able to say you met me before I became rich and famous.

— Boynton

Next Role: I'll be a Certified Public Accountant.

Tara Maroskos

Jessica Martineau
 Poor is the man whose pleasures depend on the permission of another.

— Madonna

 which one? I don't know, but I'll tell you when we get to Buxton.

Lori Mastororio
 If you treasure the past for the lessons it taught
 For the beauty it's offered, fulfillment it's brought.
 To learn something more of what's life all about . . .
 If you follow your dreams, strive to make them come true —
 The future belongs to you!

— Amanda Bradley

Next Role: To be successful in whatever I do, and to look back and remember about the good times shared throughout the years.

Jodi Mazzarino

In the end, it is not the stresses of today that drive people to madness and sadness; it is the regrets over yesterdays and the fears of tomorrow . . . So stop watching your watches and counting the days . . . Life must be lived as we go along.

— Robert J. Hastings

Elizabeth A. McConnell

Don't use time or words carelessly. Neither can be retrieved.

— Jackson Brown

Next Role: Never lose touch with my closest friends that I shared some of the best memories with.

Aim at the sun, and you may not reach it; but your arrow will fly far higher than if aimed at an object on a level with yourself.

— Joel Hawes

Cara Murtagh

Because of you guys, I've laughed a little harder, cried a little less, smiled a lot for no reason. Because of you guys, I've felt the warm embrace of a good and lasting friendship.

— C.E.M.

Next Role: To follow my dream and to Thank Mom, Dad, Kim, and Sean. I LOVE YOU ALL!! Good Luck Class of 1993! I wish you all the best!!

Mike Nelson

A boy without mischief is like a bowling ball without liquid center.

— Homer Simpson

Melissa Nevins

Remember the laughter as we go our separate ways. There's so much we're still learning. We just can't be afraid. There's a world outside our door, nothing's in our way.

— Jack Wagner

Next Role: To be happy and successful, and to still be able to drive around with Jenn and Bill in the Mustang in California.

William Nolan

Elizabeth S. Nunes

We look back through the years, we see a lot of laughter, and we recall silent tears. It's so very hard to say good-bye, it's hard for us to let go, for each of us has a separate dream, as we turn down a separate road. We are not only friends, but yet one great big family, trying so hard together, to be the best that we can be. As we leave and go on, we watch the time go by. But yet through it all, we never say good-bye.

— Unknown

Next Role: To be happy and to achieve success in whatever I do. Mom, Dad and Tony, I love you, I appreciate all your support. Dave thanks for being there, you are very special to me. And to all my friends, "Good Luck, I love you all!"

Robert Obear Jr.

I do not like them in a box. I do not like them with a fox. I do not like them in a house. I do not like them with a mouse. I do not like them anywhere. I do not like green eggs and ham. I do not like them, Sam-I-am.

— Dr. Seuss

Next Role: I hope to be at Yale Medical School sometimes in the next twenty years.

Colleen O'Connell
You could wait for your dreams to come true. But time has no mercy. Time won't stand still for you.

— Bryan Adams

college — get a great job and to always be my own person.

Jason O'Sullivan

For those who choose to stay will live just one more day to do the things they should have done, yesterday. Get out and get what you can.

— Jethro Tull

Nicole K. Peppe

Why does it have to be that we get labeled for what we do — It's hard enough for us to be ourselves without being used — So you take it from me — Don't be a victim of society — You can't put yourself in a position to be neglected and disrespected you have to do what's not expected.

— TLC

Next Role: To be riding aboard
the Suga train with Gino, Kelly, Rochelle, Hilary, Denise B.,
Michelle, Denise C. and Jaci.

the bees, save the whales, save those snails.

Christopher Pierce

Only dead fish swim with the stream.

— Anonymous

Stephanie Poulin

You have today, enjoy it. It will only be here once. Never look back on yesterday, for yesterday's gone and you can't change it. Tomorrow you get another chance and a fresh start, use it wisely. If you plan well it will be better than today and yesterday put together.

— S.P.

Next Role: I'll be a talk show hostess for a French Television Show outside of Paris.

Marc Predka

If you believe in yourself and your goals you can achieve anything — if you don't you have lost before you begin to fight.

— Marcus Garvey

Next Role: Anything I put my mind to.

Lisa Radziewicz

Memories are precious and beautiful. If you live in yesterday, there's no room for tomorrow. Hold close the good, let go of the bad, live for today, and look toward a brighter tomorrow. Life is what you make it.

— Unknown

Next Role: To succeed in everything I do. Thank you Mom, Dad, Christine, and Sheila for everything you've done for me. I love you all. Good luck Stephanie, Danielle, Melanie, Megan, and Kelly. Stay sweet and innocent. I love you Carl.

Whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.

— Max Ehrmann

Maureen A. Regan

Wishing you always:
Walls for the wind, and a roof
for the rain, and the tea beside the fire. Laughter to cheer you, and those you love near you.
And all that your heart may desire.

— An Irish Wish

Next Role: To be the best I can be, always, no matter what is happening around me. To all my friends — I've had the time of my life. To Mom and Dad, Thanks for putting up with me. And Gretchen, even though you're in high school, we'll still party!

Shane Rein

Ryan Richards

Ona Ridenour

Overnight, very
whitely, discreetly,
very quietly . . .
Nudgers and shovers
in spite of ourselves.
Our kind multiplies:
We shall by morning
Inherit the earth.
Our foot's in the door.

— Sylvia Plath

Next Role: To dream of rocky shores, red skies, full moons,
eternity, and closed eyes.

Thomas Rikkola

Teresa Riley

The worst part about graduation is knowing that saying good-bye doesn't mean I'll see you tomorrow.

— Unknown

Next Role: To finally settle down with the one I love and have six girls. To never forget the fun I had with the laughing hyenas and the great time I had at Old Orchard. I hope I never live to regret yin and yang.
Thanx Mom, Dad, Matt and
Kim. I love you.

Karla Roberts

Standing on a hill in my Mountain of dreams, telling Myself it's not as hard
As it seems.

— Led Zeppelin

Next Role: In hopes to never forget all the memories that I had with my friends. To make my parents proud, for one day
when they put on the T.V. they'll see me sitting next to Chet Curtis.

Stephanie Rotondo

Jennifer Ryan

Carolyn Salvo
We'll keep you close as always/
It won't even seem you've gone/Cause our hearts in big and small ways/ Will keep the love that keeps us strong/ And Friends are Friends forever/ If the Lord's the Lord of them/ And a friend will not say "never"/ Cause the welcome will not end/ Though it's hard to let you go/ In the Father's hands we know/ That a lifetime is not too long/ to live as friends.

— Michael W. Smith

Next Role: To find Prince Charming and live happily ever after in our "perfect" kingdom . . .

Johanna Saratora
This is the time to remember
cause it will not last forever.
These are the days to hold onto cause we won't although we want to. This is the time but time gonna change. I know we've got to move somehow but I don't want to lose you now.

— Billy Joel

Next Role: To be the best I can be, what I want to be — once I

Janet M. Scanlon

Call out my name and you know
wherever I am, I'll come running to see you again. Winter, spring, summer or fall, all you got to do is call, and I'll be there.
You've got a friend.

— James Taylor

Next Role: To be successful and happy in whatever I do. Thanks Mom and Dad!

Kristina Scanzani

I believe we can change anything/ I believe we can rise

Seniors Play Santa

Operation Charlie is a tradition at Bishop Fenwick. Each year near Christmas, members of the senior class visit the St. Charles Home for Children in Rochester, New Hampshire. It is a day that seniors have looked forward to since their freshman year.

After an eminently long bus ride, the seniors arrived at the home. The children were still in school, so the administration helped us then become acquainted with the children's environment. The Fenwick seniors anxiously awaited the children's arrival.

When the school bus pulled in, the young children ran in, eager to meet their visitor's. Although a bit nervous at first, they soon made friends. The seniors and children formed groups and then rushed off to the cafeteria to play some board games.

After dinner, the children joyfully sang Christmas carols, when Santa Claus (Mark Williams in disguise) and his elves made a surprise appearance. With great cheers and smiles the children went up one by one to receive their gifts.

As Santa and his elves exited to the North Pole, the children had the opportunity to enjoy their gifts with their new friends. A rousing snowball fight followed during which the seniors and their new buddies became covered with snow.

Unfortunately, the day had to come to an end; it was time to say goodbye. The touching moment brought tears to the seniors' eyes as they gave final hugs and kisses. Operation Charlie was a touching reminder of the true spirit of Christmas; the spirit of giving.

— Cara Murtagh, Kelley George

Clockwise: Deadly duos: Lisa Cangiamilla and Shane Ventura pose for the camera. Bring on the kids: Kerri Lyman and Cailin Kelleher wait anxiously for their buddies. "There's enough of me to go around" say Cara Murtagh and Carolyn Flynn to their playmates. Who's that bearded man? Mark Williams plays Santa Claus. My buddy: Erin Morely enjoys her time with her friend.

Starring Roles

Nancy Silveira

Nancy Silveira is a truly creative individual with a wonderful musical talent. In the seventh and eighth grade, she was the cantor at Saint John the Baptist Church in Peabody, and participated in the church folk group there. Soon after the seventh grade, she developed an interest in learning to play the drums. Nancy began taking lessons at the Donn Carr Drum Shop in Peabody. Then she joined a Portuguese marching and concert band which consists of about sixty people of all ages that live in the Peabody area. Nancy was the band's first female drummer. With the band, she traveled to New Jersey, Rhode Island, California, and Canada. Nancy plays the drums and the xylophone for the Bishop Fenwick band.

Nancy also likes to jam on her own. She plays anything from funk and rock to jazz. She says that music is one of the best ways for her to express herself. In the future, Nancy wishes to pursue a career in the music field.

— Jennifer Laughlin

Tanya Boyden

Many people do not know the exquisite talents that Senior Tanya Boyden holds. Tanya is a first degree black belt in Tae Kwon Do, Korean Karate. She passed the test on October 17, 1992. She has been taking lessons for six years at the Tiger Institute. Along with taking the lessons, she has been teaching for four years to almost anyone under her level. Her students range from the age of five to fifty-five. Tanya also teaches her younger brother, who is seven years old. Along with teaching three days a week, she manages to practice five days a week.

Not only does Tanya practice and teach for personal gain, she competes in state and national tournaments three to four times a year. She has even served as a referee at some tournaments. Her large amounts of winning trophies and medals further prove her abilities and talents. Next year she will continue her progress and training towards the highest degree black belt, the tenth. She will be attending Franklin Pierce, which has a Martial Arts Club.

Now that everyone is aware of her rare talents and abilities, be aware. She is not the type of person one would want on their bad side. She can definitely take care of herself.

— Maryann Campbell

Alice Reagan and Lisa Geraghty

They use words to create dreams. They use phrases to produce life. They are the voices of their generation, and they are the eyes through which the future shall discover the past. They are writers. Fenwick has two such artists in the class of 1993: Lisa Geraghty and Alice Reagan. Both seniors are members of the A.P. English class and have impressive lists of credits.

Lisa Geraghty first began refining her talents at age twelve; since then she has been published in various national and local publications such as "Ostentatious Mind" (NY), "My Legacy" (PA), "Young Voices" (WA), "Twentieth Century" (MA), and "Excelsior", a literary magazine published through the Massachusetts Advanced Studies Program, which she attended during her junior summer. Though she writes in all genres, poetry is her favorite.

"I love music, and poetry is very lyrical", said Lisa who cited Allende and Frost as mentors. Lisa, the Literary Editor of the Yearbook, Co-editor-in-chief of the Cru-sader Chronicle, and president of the Drama Club, hopes to pursue a career in theatre and writing after graduating from college.

Alice Reagan may be best known for her award-winning "Pool-side Regret", which was deemed one of the best short stories on the Northshore by "NorthShore Magazine". The work of this National Honor Society President has appeared over twenty times in journals, newspapers, and magazines. Alice's short stories "How My Insomnia Woke Up The Neighborhood" and "Road Trip" and her essay "The Social Parade; Junior High Dances" have received national attention in the magazines "Merlyn's Pen" and "Creative Kids". Her success has brought her to the media's attention, and she has been featured in the Swampscott Reporter and The Daily Evening Item. Last fall she appeared on Writer's World, a local television show to discuss both her accomplishments and her interests with the local authors. Alice will pursue a career in writing and has an interest in directing after attending college.

It is rare to discover such talent while in high school but it is even more rare to find two mature and capable women who have shaped their craft into a work of art. The students of Fenwick, as well as the rest of the world, have not heard, or read, the last of Alice and Lisa. May their pens be prolific for years to come.

— Becky Farrell

Jeanne D'Entremont

One of Fenwick's most talented people can always be found with a sparkle in her eye and a great big smile across her face. Jeanne D'Entremont has every reason to smile. What started out as singing and dancing in circles at the age of three has stemmed to Jeanne's success as a vocalist, piano player, and actress. Jeanne has been a member of the concert choir for four years, has had great involvement in theater for eight years, eleven years of piano lessons and now finds herself teaching piano, for the past two years to young children. Her proudest achievement she says was becoming a part of the NorthEast Senior District Chorus, but most of all to have had the privilege to sing the National Anthem in front of the whole school at the Student Council Induction ceremony.

Her musical interests do not stop there. Jeanne hopes to continue her vocal ability and pursue it as a minor in college. While she still plans to become a choral director and conductor. Her dedication and eagerness in her music leads her to decide upon making a career of her vocal talent and some day be able to get paid for her singing at weddings and other social functions.

We all know that this is not the last time we see or hear about Jeanne. In her highlight performance this spring Jeanne plays the role of Kim Macafee in Bye Bye Birdie. In the near future we will anticipate on seeing Jeanne in local theatre productions and singing.

— Loretta Jedwabski

Rochelle Festa

As far back as second grade, when she won first prize for a giraffe she had drawn, Rochelle Festa knew that she wanted to be an artist. She continued her art career throughout high school, when she began competing in art shows. Sophomore year, she was recognized by an honorable mention in the Globe Art Fair and Junior Year she received a Blue Ribbon. She also won first prize in Fenwick's own art show her Junior year for her self portrait.

Rochelle's talent was also recognized by Syracuse University. She received a scholarship and spent the summer after junior year learning more about art and perfecting her own skills. Rochelle wants to pursue art as a career, so she will major in art in college. She hopes to freelance in art and be supported by training in art education.

— Kelly Doherty

Dawn Marino

Dawn Marino, who has been skiing since she was three, has been teaching Ski Wees of that age at Wildcat Mountain in Jackson N.H., for three years.

Dawn enjoys working with young children but does admit the job requires a lot of patience. Since Dawn intends to pursue a career in early Childhood Education, she feels her experience as a ski instructor has been valuable.

Dawn not only helps out young children at Wildcat, but she also helps her fellow teammates at Fenwick. Dawn, captain of this year's Girl's Ski Team, has led the Fenwick Ski Team in points for the past three years. Dawn, an accomplished racer, has been recognized locally and nationally for her achievements. At the age of five, she was recognized as one of the top twenty-five young skiers in the country. Dawn has been a U.S.S.A. Federation racer, a member of the Wildcat Ski Team and was named to the 1992 Salem News All-Star Ski Team.

Dawn has had a successful skiing career and hopes to influence her Ski Wees to pursue a future on the slopes.

— Mark Williams

Amanda Rossi

When people hear the name Amanda Rossi, they think of all the times she has lit up the Fenwick stage in productions such as The Curious Savage, Steel Magnolias, Once Upon A Mattress, and Bye Bye Birdie. In addition to all the time she has dedicated to the Fenwick drama club, she has participated in numerous other activities such as being a member of the Spotlighters of Lynnfield, Brookridge Players and Fellowship Players. She also models. In 1985 and 1986 Amanda attended a workshop for television and modeling.

Beginning in 1987 to the present, she has been modeling with the Cameo Agency in Boston.

Amanda has not only been involved in modeling but also drama and musical theater. Her first performance was in 1981, where she was a member of the chorus in the Salem Children's Theater's production of All We Need Is The Music. She went on to do five more shows at the Salem Children's Theater, including Peter Pan, where she played Twin, Oliver — playing Fagan's boy, in Charlie Brown as Linus, The Wizard of Oz as the Mayor, and finally, The Sound Of Music as Brigitta. In 1986, Amanda was cast as Anybody's in the production of West Side Story at St. John's Prep in Danvers. From 1987 through 1989, Amanda was in two productions of Nativity, as the Narrator, which were put on by the Fellowship Players. Her most recent off campus role was with the Anonymous Players in August 1991 in Brighton Beach Memoirs as the character of Nora. From 1990 until the present time, Amanda has filled up a great deal of her time bringing joy and wonderment to Fenwick's faculty, students, and friends.

SUPPORTING CAST

IN HOLLYWOOD, THE STARS ARE THE ONES WHO RECEIVE TOP BILLING. NO PRODUCTION, HOWEVER, IS COMPLETE WITHOUT A STRONG SUPPORTING CAST. WHAT WOULD A MUSICAL BE WITHOUT A MAGNIFICENT ENSEMBLE? WHAT WOULD DOROTHY DO WITHOUT TOTO? WHAT WOULD CASABLANCA BE IF SAM WASN'T THERE TO "PLAY IT AGAIN"? THE SUPPORTING ACTORS AND ACTRESSES COMPLEMENT THE MAIN PLAYERS.

THE EXECUTIVES AT THE FENWICK STUDIOS ARE WELL AWARE OF THE IMPORTANCE OF CHOOSING A STRONG SUPPORTING CAST FOR EACH PRODUCTION. THEY HAVE NO DIFFICULTY IN MAKING THIS SELECTION, HOWEVER. THERE ARE NUMEROUS BRIGHT, YOUNG, TALENTS WORKING HERE AT THE FENWICK STUDIOS, ALL OF WHOM EAGERLY ANTICIPATE THE OPPORTUNITY TO APPEAR IN A FENWICK PRODUCTION. THEY PLAY BIT PARTS, UNDERSTUDY ROLES, SWEEP FLOORS, PAINT SETS; ALL THE TIME HOPING FOR THE ATTAINMENT OF A CHANCE TO SHINE.

THE DIRECTORS AND PRODUCERS AT FENWICK REALIZE THE BENEFITS OF WORKING HARD TO ACHIEVE ONE'S DREAM. THE DREAMER IS ONLY MORE APPRECIATIVE WHEN THE DREAM COMES TRUE. THOSE YOUNG HOPEFULS, THEREFORE, ARE FORCED TO PUT IN LONG HOURS AT THE FENWICK LOT. THEY NEVER CEASE WORKING; DREAMING NIGHT AND DAY THAT THEIR FAIRY GODMOTHER WILL COME TO GRANT THEIR WISH FOR STARDOM. UNTIL THAT TIME, THEY WILL CONTINUE WORKING. SOMEDAY SOON, THOUGH, THEY TOO WILL SAVOR THE SPOTLIGHT.

DIRECTORS

BEFORE EACH TAPING FOR A HOLLYWOOD PRODUCTION, COMPLETE ATTENTION IS GIVEN TO THE ACTORS AND ACTRESSES IN PREPARATION FOR THE UPCOMING SCENES. WHEN THE CAMERAS START ROLLING, HOWEVER, THE DIRECTORS ARE THE ONES WHO RUN THE SHOW. THEREFORE, THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE DIRECTORS IS ONE OF GREAT IMPORTANCE. THEY ARE THE ONES WHO ARE PRAISED FOR THE SUCCESS, OR HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR THE FAILURE, OF A PRODUCTION. IT IS THEIR DUTY, THEREFORE, TO COMMUNICATE THEIR WISHES TO THE PERFORMERS AND TO ADVISE THEM ON HOW TO PERFECT THEIR SCENES. THE ACTORS AND ACTRESSES RELY ON THE DIRECTORS FOR THIS GUIDANCE.

AT THE FENWICK STUDIOS, THE DIRECTORS PLAY A MAJOR ROLE. THE DIRECTORS ARE THE MENTORS FOR THE ACTORS AND ACTRESSES. WITHOUT THE DIRECTORS' STRONG EXAMPLE OF ENDURING DETERMINATION, THE ACTORS AND ACTRESSES AT FENWICK WOULD NOT HAVE DEVELOPED THE WORK ETHIC THEY HAVE TODAY. THE DIRECTORS ARE THE ONES WHO MADE POSSIBLE THE FULFILLMENT OF THE PERFORMERS' DREAMS. THE DIRECTORS HAVE AN EYE FOR TALENT. THEY KNOW HOW TO INVOKE THE BEST ABILITIES IN EACH ACTOR AND ACTRESS.

THE FENWICK STUDIOS HAVE SOME OF THE MOST CAPABLE DIRECTORS IN ALL OF SHOW BUSINESS IN ITS EMPLOYMENT. IN THE PAST, THESE DIRECTORS HAVE ACCOMPLISHED SOME INCREDIBLE PRODUCTIONS. THE WORLD LOOKS FORWARD TO THE PRODUCTIONS OF TOMORROW.

The Executive Producers

Mr. LeDuc didn't obtain his position overnight; it took many years, as well as hours of dedication, to become the principal of Bishop Fenwick.

Mr. LeDuc became a member of the "Fenwick Family" in March of 1962, when he took on the roles of indoor/outdoor track coach and coach of Fenwick's first football team.

In September 1964, Mr. LeDuc acquired a teaching position at Fenwick, and until 1970, Mr. LeDuc could be seen teaching social studies, math, religion, and even physical education.

In 1970 he moved up the ladder to the position of assistant principal; in 1974 he reached the top rung of the ladder and was crowned head of the "Fenwick Family."

Mr. LeDuc has maintained this position for nineteen years; however, he has not found it simple. People look to Mr. LeDuc for all of the solutions to any of the school's problems. He has a very hectic schedule throughout a normal school day. Mr. LeDuc can be found talking with parents, students, or teachers, discussing events with Sister Geraldine, or dealing with the piles of paperwork he receives each day. Mr. LeDuc must also keep track of the school's finances, as well as improve the school to create a positive environment for all.

Mr. LeDuc takes great pride in Fenwick. One can often see him wearing a most lovely piece of Fenwick apparel — the Fenwick sweater. Without our fine principal running our school, Fenwick would not be Fenwick.

Mr. Ralph W. LeDuc
Principal

Sr. Geraldine Burns, SND
Vice-Principal

The vice-principal of Bishop Fenwick, Sister Geraldine Burns, SND, has held other positions at Fenwick prior to her current job. When she first began at Fenwick in 1974, she joined the faculty as a math teacher. She later became the head of the mathematics department. By the year 1983, Sister Geraldine had become vice principle. As vice principle, Sister Geraldine ensures that the rules are followed. Although most students relate pink slips and detentions to Sister Geraldine, her duties reach far beyond that. Sister also handles the bookstore and class scheduling, as well as report cards.

Most people do not realize, that at one time Sister Geraldine was the freshman girls' basketball coach, as well as the junior varsity field hockey coach. Much has happened since 1974 but one thing still remains — Sr. Geraldine enjoys her work and especially enjoys watching the students grow and mature as each year goes by.

Her advice to the seniors is "to treasure the time they have in high school for it is a stepping stone to the future." As for the underclassmen, a similar message. Be aware and involved with all that is around you, you only get one chance at going to high school, don't let the years slip by.

A Guiding Force

It's just after morning announcements and you see your homeroom teacher coming towards you — what's that in his or her hand? It's a guidance slip. You think to yourself, "Not again — I've got homework to do!"

Guidance acts as an important part of life at Fenwick. Mr. Carl Sacco assists the freshmen with their adjustment to their new experiences at high school, while Sister Marie Emmanuel Mahoney, SND, prepares sophomores for their climb up the academic ladder. During junior year, Mrs. Constance Skahan explains those inevitable SATs and begins the college selection process. Throughout senior year, Mr. John Jaworski helps the seniors with their college applications, as well as with their considerable amounts of stress. Mrs. Pauline LaRoche and Mrs. Mary O'Hare, the support staff, handle various tasks in the Guidance Department, such as scheduling and appointments. Under the leadership of Sister Georgia Kitt, Guidance acts in the best interests of all students.

The Guidance Department is also there when you just need someone to talk to. If you ever have a major problem, or just need to get something off your chest, take a visit to Guidance. The staff is always there when you need them. Next time you see a slip coming towards you in homeroom, don't stuff it in one of your books and forget about it — go! You never know when you may need the wonderful people in the Guidance Department.

Religious Reflections

How does religion influence our lives? Do we incorporate it into our daily living or do we conveniently set it aside?

Sometimes it is difficult to learn more about our religion and to develop a personal relationship with God. However, in the long run, our religion helps us to fulfill our daily lives. Each of us views religion from a different perspective, and the enrichment of the religious education at Fenwick enables us to explore our Christian beliefs.

From freshman to senior year, we discuss topics ranging from the Hebrew and Christian Scriptures to learning how to cope with the reality of death. Fenwick's dedicated religion teachers also touch our lives and encourage us to reach out and help others through various class discussions. For example, we take time to help the hungry at Haven From Hunger.

Our spirit of caring and reaching out to one another is what religion teaches us here at Bishop Fenwick.

Literary Giants

Fenwick offers a wide variety of English courses to teach any student that our language and literature can be dazzling and interesting. During four mandatory years of English, students discuss poetry, plays, novels, and short stories, at the same time learning the correct way to speak and write. While some of the works covered can be a little tedious, a great many of the selections fascinate and excite the reader. There is also a required term paper, which every sophomore, junior, and senior dreads; however, this exercise in composition is an essential skill for later use in college academics. Learning to write clear and informative papers now prepares students for future research projects.

The only disadvantage to English class

may be the thick and heavy literature books that students must have for class each day. However, despite this weighty obstacle, English offers many advantages. Students learn new vocabulary to impress their friends or to incorporate into various papers for all subjects. The various types of literature covered in each course also hold information about the history and culture of the United States and Britain, as well as other areas of the world. Throughout the life of every student, English will be an important and helpful subject; Fenwick prepares students well for today's society through its English department.

Around the World in Four Years

It's first period Monday morning, and the last thing you want to discuss is what happened to the ancient Mongols or the causes of the American Revolution. You are more concerned with recent history, such as what happened Saturday night; however, there you are, sitting in one of the various history classes that Bishop Fenwick offers.

Students have the option of taking European Culture as a freshman or Asian-African Culture as a sophomore. By junior year, it is time to venture into the Western Hemisphere for United States History. In one short year juniors learn everything they want to know and more about "The land of the free and the home of the brave." Seniors have more than one class choice if they choose to take a third or fourth year of history. They can learn about how people run the world through Government and World Issues or about the world of red tape with Street Law. Seniors can also study mind functions and relationships with different types of people in Psychology. Through this comprehensive history program, the students of Bishop Fenwick High School are given the opportunity to study every aspect of history and human behavior and will hopefully learn from society's mistakes — so that they are not doomed to repeat them.

Foreign Appeal

Foreign languages are not just spoken inside the classroom at Fenwick. Wherever you go, you are bound to hear at least a bit of foreign language influence on our daily lives — whether it is someone calling Fr. Jim, “Padre,” or a student quoting an odd remark from his or her French book.

French and Spanish are both taught at level two and honors, as well as level one for the first two years of Spanish. Two years of foreign language are required, but many students continue their studies throughout their four high school years or venture to take two languages at the same time.

There is more to each class than books, workbooks, and tapes that students sometime find difficult to comprehend. Students make paper hamburgers for extra credit, write little books about themselves, and play computer games such as tic-tac-toe in French.

Numerical Value

"I didn't get last night's homework. I am so confused in that class."

These comments and others can be heard frequently among the students of various math classes; however, this confusion is temporary. The confusion, whether it be from geometric proofs or graphing functions, is a thing of the past due to the dedication and the never-ending availability of assistance from the math teachers.

Freshmen, for the most part, get to play around with algebraic proofs and solve linear equations and inequalities. Geometry students enjoy memorizing geometric theorems, but would prefer to do Origami rather than to learn about right angles and perpendicular bisectors.

The math classes offered at Fenwick do not concentrate on strict axioms alone. They challenge the mind and allow for individual creativity and intellectual growth. By taking advantage of graphing calculators and computers, students in grades eleven and twelve can become as up close and personal with a polynomial function as they can get. Parabolas and parallel lines become your new best friends.

Although very few students can admit to loving their math class or doing math homework, these courses are indispensable. Gradually, as students become acquainted with concepts that were once foreign to them, they'll be glad they learned how to graph a quadratic function before they graduate and maybe the confusion on last night's math homework will have disappeared when your teacher, helpfully, reviews the concepts and problems.

The Mad Scientists

Imagine a world without science. Man would not have walked on the moon, the telephone would not exist, electricity would be a word that no one would know. Think of how great a loss the world would suffer without these inventions that were made possible because of science. Such inventions are examples of the great importance that science has.

Fenwick realizes the importance of science in today's world. Each student is required to take two years of lab science.

After chemistry, students can choose to take physics, or other science courses such as Ecology, Marine Biology, Anatomy, and A.P. Biology.

Though not every student will go on to a science-related profession, it is certain that many will find that their background in science gives them an appreciation of the great technological advances that scientists are able to make each day because of their knowledge of science.

Artistic Merit

Hmm. Woman on horse, boy with bucket, kitten on a porch. Are we on the farm or at Bishop Fenwick's Art Department? There's a sign which tells us where we are. It reads, "Please don't feed the art students." Just ignore that phrase, look at the artwork, and you'll be fine. As you gaze upwards, downwards, or simply keep your head at eye level, you can see many different types of artwork created by freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Except for the multi-colored blob on the floor, everything here is from someone's creative mind. From paintings to pastels and from charcoal to pencil, you never know what you'll see.

But hark! Is that the sound of beautiful music being played over yonder? Yes, here comes the other half of the Fine Arts Department, the instrumental and vocal performers. If you can't draw a straight line with a ruler, maybe you can test your vocal cords, instead. The Chorale, Chorus, and Concert Choir sing everywhere: at plays, during Mass, and at two concerts. On the other hand, Fenwick also has a number of people playing instruments in the band. These talented folks strain their fingers and their lungs to make beautiful music. Under the leadership of the faculty, students demonstrate their creative qualities as members of the fine Arts Department.

Helping Hands

Campus Ministry, although housed in one of the smallest offices at Fenwick, has one of the largest impacts on both the school and the community. In a student's four years here, Campus Ministry offers him or her a chance to attend both day and overnight retreats, to "Adopt-A-Child" at Christmas, and to spread some holiday cheer via Operation Charlie. However, any student can also display their concern for the Peabody area by volunteering to serve at Haven from Hunger, visiting nursing homes, or by participating in any one of the other community projects the office sponsors.

Furthermore, Ms. Elizabeth Sullivan, Sister Lisette Michaud, SSCH, and Fr. James Nyhan — the three principal staffers of the Campus Ministry office — have designed a number of other outreach programs for Fenwick students. The Summer Leadership Program selects a group of promising leaders both present and future; a three day retreat helps these voices of authority to become a positive force within the school. An annual visit to Haiti, organized by the Hale Family, teaches the volunteer relief workers that they can have an impact on events that they might once have dismissed as not directly affecting them. The summer trip to Camp Fatima gives students the opportunity to develop compassion for and friendship with special-needs children.

Above all, Campus Ministry offers all Fenwick students a place to relax. The office is always open to anyone needing to talk out a problem. Helping to plan mass, or simply "vegging out." Campus Ministry may look small, but its walls enclose the biggest heart in Fenwick — the caring and compassionate spirit of the students and faculty.

The Health Club

"I forgot my sneakers!"

"We're playing what today?"

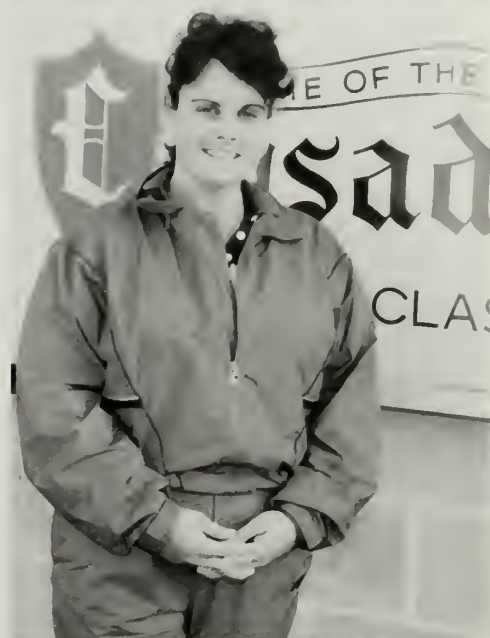

"You disinfected that mannequin, right?"

Cries such as these can be heard throughout Fenwick's gym complex during almost every physical education class. Students are required to take gym during their freshman and sophomore years. Freshmen attend class two days a week throughout the year; sophomores spend one semester in gym, taking the class four days a week.

Students keep in shape through a variety of sports and activities, such as softball, touch football, "pillow polo," and basketball. In addition, Fenwick also participates in the President's Physical Fitness Test, a nationwide program which tests the strength of each student in different areas of physical fitness. Of course, physical fitness and health go hand in hand; Fenwick takes one quarter each year to teach the American Red Cross course in CPR. Students practice on mannequins ("Annie, Annie, are you okay?"), as well as watching instructional videotapes about rescue techniques. At the end of the course, students are tested and certified as Red Cross trained rescuers. By the time students are no longer required to take gym, they have gained the benefits of a healthy body and the ability to help others.

A Commitment to Excellence

Each year the National Honor Society recognizes students who demonstrate outstanding scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Students are chosen not only for their academic grade point average of 3.70 or higher, but for their extracurricular activities as well.

Members of the National Honor Society are very committed to helping others. They give of their own time to tutor freshmen students.

In addition to committing themselves to other students, the National Honor Society also serves coffee at parent-teacher night, serves refreshments after the Christmas concert, and helps at other functions throughout the year.

Under the leadership and dedication of Sr. Judith Nee, the National Honor Society is a wonderful organization that truly represents Fenwick's spirit of community.

A Fountain of Knowledge

Are you tired of traveling to far away places to attain the information you need for research papers, and other school projects? Do you need a place where you can go to study among friends? If the answer is yes, then the O'Rourke Library is for you.

Fenwick's library was dedicated in May of 1981 to Sisters Madeline and Julianne O'Rourke, SND, who served as the librarians for the first twenty years of the school's existence.

The current head librarian is Brother Frederick Codair, known to all as Brother Fred. Along with Brother Fred, Assistant Librarian Sister Nancy O'Reilly, SCN, and Library Secretary, Mrs. Gina Jaworski, work to ensure that Fenwick students have a quiet place to study, and the necessary guidance and tools they need to complete research. Students may access the library's facilities between the hours of 7:45 AM and 3:15 PM.

The library offers current volumes of information and equipment that answers to the needs of each and every student. So why search beyond your own home for information that you already have?

Trips abroad

As the years pass, the students stroll through Fenwick's halls gather many memories from their time here. Field trips and school-run vacations are without a doubt, high on the most memorable list; this year would be no different from those in the past. What death student will forget their first visit to the crematorium, or the uncanny similarity between the ovens and the pizza ovens at Bertucci's? The Aquarium enables students in Marine biology to see what they are learning up close, rather than reading about it in textbooks, and the Museum of Fine Arts gives the talented art students a chance to view their mentors and a goal to shoot for. The hundreds of students who venture outside and out of dress code during the school hours thank their teachers for alternate ways of learning.

Over winter break, seventeen students spent eight days studying the incredible landscape of the Yucatan Peninsula in Mexico. Guided by the fearless chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Kawczynski, the students climbed pyramids in Uxmal and Chitzen-Itza, discovered the history of Mérida, and relaxed on the lush beaches of Cancun. Whether it was bargaining for a hammock or watching the sunrise over the Caribbean, the students learned a lifetime of lessons, including when you're told not to drink the water — DON'T! It would be a shame to finish high school without experiencing one of these or any field trip. It gives students and teachers a chance to learn about their subjects, their world and each other. It can be the greatest lesson of all!

STUNTMEN AND STUNTWOMEN

WHAT WOULD HOLLYWOOD BE WITHOUT THE PRODUCTION OF ACTION FILMS? THEY ARE AN EXCITING FORM OF ENTERTAINMENT, CONTAINING STUNTS THAT LOOK IMPOSSIBLE FOR ANYONE TO PERFORM. THERE ARE PEOPLE, HOWEVER, WHO ARE CAPABLE OF COMPLETING THESE STUNTS, STUNTS WHICH MAKE ACTION FILMS THE SUCCESS THEY ARE TODAY. THE ACTORS OR ACTRESSES IN A MOVIE USUALLY CHOOSE NOT TO PERFORM, OR ARE PROHIBITED BY PRODUCERS, DUE TO SAFETY PRECAUTIONS, FROM DOING THEIR OWN STUNTS. THE STUDIO, THEREFORE, WHICH PRODUCES THE FILM, MUST HIRE QUALIFIED PEOPLE TO REPLACE THE ACTOR OR ACTRESS IN THAT SCENE, PEOPLE WHOSE QUALIFICATIONS INCLUDE ATHLETIC TALENT AND THE WILLINGNESS TO HANDLE THE JOB OF CREATING A BELIEVABLY AUTHENTIC ACTION SCENE.

AT THE FENWICK STUDIOS, PRODUCERS REALIZE THE NEED TO HIRE ONLY THOSE MEN AND WOMEN WHO SHOW THE PROMISE THAT IS NEEDED, ATHLETICALLY AND MENTALLY, TO PERFORM IN CHALLENGING ACTION SCENES. THEREFORE, THE PRODUCERS FIRST HIRE AND THEN TRAIN THEIR STUNTMEN ON LOCATION AT THE FENWICK LOT. THE BEST TRAINERS AND ATHLETIC COACHES IN THE WORLD ARE CHOSEN BY PRODUCERS TO TRAIN AND PREPARE THESE YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN FOR THE TASKS WHICH WILL BE ASSIGNED TO THEM IN THE FUTURE.

THOUGH THE TRAINERS WORK TO DISCIPLINE THE TRAINEES PHYSICALLY, THE COACHES STRIVE TO STRENGTHEN THE MINDS OF THEIR YOUNG PRODIGIES AS WELL. DISCIPLINE EXISTS IN THE MIND. WITHOUT THE MIND, THE BODY COULD NOT FUNCTION. THEREFORE, IN DANGEROUS SCENES, IT IS A NECESSITY THAT THE MEN AND WOMEN COMPLETING THE STUNTS HAVE MENTAL AND PHYSICAL STRENGTH TO THINK AND ACT QUICKLY. THIS DISCIPLINE COULD SAVE THEIR LIVES. AT THE FENWICK STUDIOS, MANY MEN AND WOMEN HAVE BEEN TAUGHT THIS DISCIPLINE, AND HAVE APPLIED IT, NOT ONLY TO THEIR JOBS ON THE SET, BUT TO THEIR LIVES AS WELL.

Battling It Out

The Bishop Fenwick Football team may not have had a winning season in 1992, yet it still proved to be an enjoyable one, with several memorable games.

This season was Mr. Al Costabile's first as Head Coach, after serving as an assistant coach for several years. He was a guiding force throughout the season, putting in long hours of hard work and dedication in order to help his players. The assistant coaches were Ray Donahue, Paul Lyman, Jim McHugh, and Steve Sutura.

Tri-captains Mark Predka, Dave Galopim, and Bill Nolan were great team leaders. All three played well during the season, and each was named a Catholic Central League All-Star. Other seniors leading the way were Matt Brooks, Pat Callahan, Damon Deluties, Steve Eichten, Ted Manley, and Ed Mercier.

This year's final record was 4-5, yet the season had many bright spots. One highlight was the 21-6 win over Arlington Catholic in Fenwick's Homecoming game. The 21-0 slaughter of Lynn Tech and the 6-0 win over Archbishop Williams, a team Fenwick had not beaten in over ten years, also provided excitement. Even in losses to Dom Savio and Don Bosco, the Crusaders played well and stayed close. Finally, after three straight losses, the team ended the season on a positive note with a Thanksgiving Day victory. Fenwick defeated new Thanksgiving rival Austin Prep, 19-6.

At the Football Banquet, Bill Nolan received the award for Team MVP, and also took the Sal Tripoli Award, which is for the most valuable player in the Thanksgiving game. Dave Galopim received the Coach's award, Ted Manley the Osgood award, Brad Bergeron the underclassman award, and Pat Callahan was named Most Improved. Also at the banquet, Ryan LaMontagne, Brad Bergeron, and Dave Kircopoles were named next year's captains.

The Crusaders will miss the seniors who will be leaving, but with the talent that the underclassmen players have, hope to make 1993 a great season.

Gridiron Supporters

Cheerleading is not always taken as seriously as other competitive sports, but anyone who watches the Bishop Fenwick Football Cheerleaders knows that it should be.

This year the squad was led by co-captains senior Michelle Batchelder and junior Meaghan Haight. Not only did the Cheerleaders enthusiastically support the football team and promote school spirit, but they were also successful in competitions.

The girls put in long hours of hard work, practicing and perfecting their difficult routines, showing just how dedicated they are. Coaches Debra Dzierzak and Jodi Firicano provided the team with strong leadership and extreme dedication.

What should be taken into consideration is the fact that this was a relatively young squad compared to past years. Co-captain Michelle Batchelder was the sole senior, and Meaghan Haight, Stephanie McCadden and Beca Paulino were the only juniors. The majority of underclassmen on the squad included eight sophomores and three freshman.

This year the junior varsity squad consisted of three sophomores and eight freshmen. The J.V. Cheerleaders put in an equal amount of time and effort into their routines and practices.

The Football Cheerleaders are a great asset here at Fenwick and they are definitely deserving of recognition and appreciation for their hard work, dedication, and talent.

Time OUT

Sticking to it

The 1992 Bishop Fenwick Field Hockey team once again had a very successful season. The Lady Crusaders had a record of 10-4-2, which allowed them to top the Greater Boston League.

The team was led by Tri-captains Kerri Lyman, Cailin Kelleher, and Leah Mastromatteo. These girls had great leadership qualities and all played well throughout the season. Lyman was named to the All-Star team. Also leading the way were seniors Amy Brooks, Johanna Saratora, Julie L'Heureux, Jodi Mazzarino, and Kathleen Collins.

There was a big change in the field hockey team this year — first year coach Nancy Usalis. Coach Usalis provided great guidance and leadership to the team throughout the season, and her rookie year as coach proved to be a great one.

The team went on to play in the tournament, but lost in the first round to a tough Lawrence Team. Despite this final loss, the season was satisfying for all. The team looks forward to next year, as a talented group of underclassmen will be returning, ready for another winning season.

Life at the Top

The 1992 soccer season for the Lady Crusaders proved to be another success. Under the guidance of first-year coach Lisa McIntyre, the girls played their way to a stellar 15-3-3 record.

Captains Karla Roberts, Christy Murphy, Jennifer Mullen, and Melissa O'Shea exemplified leadership qualities on and off the field, and their enthusiasm helped to boost team spirit. All four captains played well throughout the season, each being named to the Catholic Central League All-Star Team.

During the season, several key players suffered injuries, but the team was able to overcome this obstacle and top the CCL while advancing to the state tournament.

The Girls' Soccer team will be losing valuable players in the captains as well as in Emily Tobin, Elizabeth Antonio, Karen Chambers, and Sarah Callahan. Still, there are many talented underclassmen anxiously awaiting to fill their shoes in 1993 for another great season.

A Surprising Season

Because of losing a coach and eight starters, the Bishop Fenwick Boys' Soccer team was not expected to do much this fall. However, under new coach Jon Izzo, and the leadership of tri-captains Dan Desmond, Matthew Grocki, and Kevin Murphy, the team improved their record to 12-4-2, and finished second in the Catholic Central League and earned a spot in the state tournament.

The primary reason for the team's success this season was its defense. Goalie Dan Desmond consistently came up with save after save. Juniors Matt Corning and Chris Granese and senior fullbacks Sean Murphy and Jason Craig did a great job in making sure that the ball did not get to Desmond too often. Up front, seniors Kevin Murphy and Matthew Grocki finished third and fourth in the league in scoring, respectively, providing a deadly one-two punch. Dave Moran, Jason Leck, and Craig Giannino were stalwarts at halfback, and seniors Shane Ventura, Rich Avery, and Sean Spates provided good minutes off the bench.

After three years of solid goalkeeping, Desmond earned his due in being named MVP and CCL Keeper of the Year. Joining him on the CCL All-Star team were co-MVP Kevin Murphy, Matthew Grocki, and Matt Corning. Grocki was named best offensive player at the banquet, while Corning received the defensive honors. Sean Murphy and Rich Avery took the Coaches' Award.

Next year, eleven players will be returning to the team, with Corning and Moran as captains. Along with a strong J.V. program, the soccer team will once again be a force to reckon with next season.

Running to Victory

Once again the girls of the Bishop Fenwick High School Cross-Country team have come through with flying colors. Coached by Mr. Jack Farley, the girls accomplished what they set out to do — win the Catholic Central League Title, as well as in win the League Meet.

Tri-captains Katie Gomes, Jennifer Veradt, and Stephanie Poulin led the team in a successful season with a record of 8-1. The team, consisting of thirty-two runners, easily won both the Varsity race and the Freshmen-Sophomore race in the League Meet held at Franklin Park on November 1st. Tiffany LaRoche led the Lady Crusaders with a second place finish in the Varsity race. The top seven runners on the winning team in the Varsity race were named League Meet Champs. They were freshmen Tiffany LaRoche and Cindy Ward, sophomores Jane Marshall, Amanda Palumbo, and Jaime Colarusso, and juniors Cindy Hung and Grace-Marie Magnarelli. The top ten all-around were named League All-Stars, including Fenwick runners LaRoche, Palumbo, Marshall, and Colarusso. Fenwick's #1 runner and last year's League MVP, Katie Gomes, was unable to run in the League Meet due to illness.

Although Gomes did not compete in the League Meet, she made a comeback running in the State Class Meet. Her comeback proved to be strong when she qualified for the All-State Meet. In the All-State meet, Katie ran well, finishing off a tough but successful season.

After all the hard work, the Fenwick runners deserved a rewarding banquet. Those receiving awards were Katie Gomes (Team MVP, Team Award), Amanda Palumbo (Most Improved), Tiffany LaRoche (Underclassman Award), Jane Marshall (Unsung Hero), and Stephanie Poulin and Jennifer Veradt (Coaches' Award).

Indeed, the senior captains will be missed, but next year's team looks to be a success once again with an extremely talented group of underclassmen returning.

Chasing the Championship

After three long years of hard work and dedication, Coach Jack Farley gave Bishop Fenwick a championship Cross Country team! Under the strong leadership of co-captains Doug Lowe, Kevin Farley, and Eric Dugan, the Bishop Fenwick Boys' Cross Country team not only won the Catholic Central League, but did it while being undefeated in the league. After enjoying the CCL title as an appetizer, it was time for the main course, a 3.1 mile course. Franklin Park's tedious course was this year's site for the Catholic Central League meet. Here, the Freshman-Sophomore team defended its championship, and the varsity improved from a second place finish last year, to the top spot. Stephen "Kenyan" Lowe, an All-Star, led the team, picking up the League MVP trophy as he crossed the finish line to a first place finish. Just five days before the big league meet, Steve showed that he would outshine the rest when he broke into the seventh spot on Fenwick's All Time Top Ten Home course Record. That same day, Doug Lowe picked up the ninth spot on the Top Ten.

Granted that Doug, Kevin, Eric, Mark Williams, Matt Swenson, Steve Piccone and Ray Soares will all be graduating, their experience and hard work has left a lasting impact on a solid group that has tasted success. With the hope of some new young talent, the Boys' Cross Country team will strive to defend their CCL Championship in 1993.

Spiking Their Way to Success

The Bishop Fenwick Volleyball team enjoyed a successful season. This team was extremely enthusiastic and outgoing. Led by tenth-year coach Anthony "Spike" Juliano and his senior tri-captains Andrea Corey, Eryne Long, and Cara Murtagh, the varsity team consisted of ten seniors, six juniors, and one sophomore. "These kids were great, we had a lot of talent this year," said coach Juliano about his team.

There was a new addition this year — Coach Donna Plant. She graduated from Fenwick in 1986, and was a four-year starter on the volleyball team while attending Bates College. Coach Plant led the way for the junior varsity team, which also had a strong season.

Also, under the watchful eye of Coach Donna Bansfield, an intramural program was added. More than twenty students participated in these practices and games.

This season's 8-11 record was an enormous improvement from last year's record of 2-16. The team hopes to improve even more next year with a strong crop of returning underclassmen.

Aiming High

Once again, the Bishop Fenwick Girls' Basketball Team was a huge success. Senior co-captains Jennifer Ryan and Karla Roberts led the Lady Crusaders to a 17-5 record en route to winning the Catholic Central League Championship. The girls advanced to EMass Tournament play. In the tournament, Fenwick beat Lynn English, 39-25, in the first round, but they lost to Waltham in the quarterfinals of the North Sectionals.

Still, this team had plenty to be proud of, including the outstanding play of Jennifer Ryan throughout the season. Karla Roberts and junior Deidre Driscoll also played very well. Juniors Lorin Slade, Erin McCafferty, and Colleen McGlynn, along with sophomores Colleen Parkder, Lyn DiFlumeri, Kristen Diachisn, and Sarah Karish each contributed to the team in their own way.

With a talented group returning next year, next season has the potential to be another great one.

A Team Effort

In 1993, the Bishop Fenwick Boys' Basketball team rose above and beyond all expectations. Coming off an extremely successful 1992 season, this year's team had a hard act to follow. Yet the Crusaders came through, posting a 16-4 regular season record and finishing second in the Catholic Central League. Senior tri-captains Douglas Lowe, Scott McKenzie, and Shane Rein led the team through the season and on to the State Tournament where they made it to the Division 2 North Sectional Semi-Final.

This year's starting five consisted of the three captains, along with seniors Jason Vitale and Keith Dupuis. There were no superstars on this team; rather, each player was an important part of the squad's success. Each of the starters led the team in scoring at least one point during the season. Seniors Craig Giannino, Sean McCrea, and Kevin Murphy and juniors Christopher Wodarski and William Baril also played well and made significant contributions.

This season was more than anyone could have predicted. Through teamwork, the Crusaders were able to continue the winning tradition of Fenwick basketball.

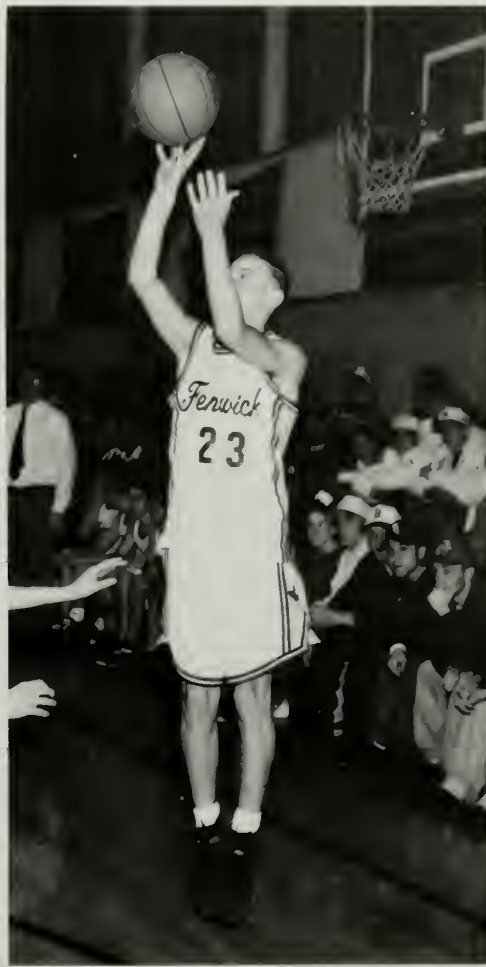

Dishing it off: Jason Vitale looks to pass to a teammate.

Faithful Fans

The 1993 Varsity Basketball Cheerleaders had a squad of sixteen hard-working, extremely dedicated young ladies. As with any sport, cheerleading requires skill and practice. The Basketball Cheerleaders' long hours of practice paid off when they were able to perform at high levels during the basketball games.

This year's squad was led by senior tri-captains Teresa Riley, Eryne Long, and Kelly Thompson, along with the support of their coach, Mrs. Frances Ward. Other seniors leading the way were Deirdre Wirtanen, Michelle Batchelder, Suzanne Duchane, and Jennifer Doak. The members of the squad successfully cheered the Varsity Basketball team on to victory, and spread their enthusiasm to the crowds.

The Junior Varsity squad was led by co-captains Kristen Mikolajewski and Jennifer McManus. They too rooted their team to success and helped spread school spirit.

A Spirited Group

There are certain words that are often used when describing cheerleaders. Enthusiastic, spirited, and perky are some examples of such words. These certainly apply to the Bishop Fenwick Hockey Cheerleaders. However, more importantly, the cheerleaders are dedicated and hard working.

This year's squad was led by co-captains Jo Ann Bertolino and Michelle Karsis. Seniors Toni Accaputo and Tara Ofcharsky also provided leadership. The girls put in long hours practicing, cheering at the games, as well as in decorating the players' lockers and their home rink.

Each girl on the squad has put her best effort forth in rooting the hockey team on to victory and promoting support for them.

Finishing Strong

The Bishop Fenwick Crusaders Hockey team completed another fine season playing the hardest schedule on the North Shore.

The young team skated with powerhouses such as nationally ranked Matignon, as well as perennial tournament teams such as Amesbury, Arlington Catholic, Marblehead, Masconomet, Winthrop, Lynnfield, and undefeated Danvers High.

Determination and a solid team effort enabled Fenwick to go undefeated in their last eight battles.

Many special performances enabled the Crusaders to more than hold their own during the 92-93 season. First is the play of Canadian import senior Heath Mac Vittee, and second, senior captain Mike Bennevento provided leadership on the ice. An explosive offense and a solid defense made the Crusaders' presence known throughout the state. Last but not least is the outstanding play of goalie Charlie Chesna, a junior.

Crusader Head Coach Robert Tierney said of the season, "We were very competitive. Of 20 games, 17 were decided in the final period. We played our best hockey in the final month of the season, going 3-0-5 in the last 8 games. It was a great group to coach." With much enthusiasm and youth, the team is looking forward to the 93-94 campaign.

Lapping the competition

With pride and determination, the boys and girls of the Bishop Fenwick Swim Team began another eventful season. Under the training of new coach Marci Earl and the leadership of co-captains Sarah Callahan and Stephen Caruso, each swimmer tried to surpass his or her own personal bests.

Bishop Fenwick sent senior Sherie Sirois, juniors Stephen Caruso and Nicole Fiermonte, the underclassmen swimming prodigies of Gwen Callahan, Shannon McMahon, and Whitney Berman, and divers Andrea Mantia and Shannon Hemsath to the Sectionals to compete in a field of 39 teams. After the tough competition at the Sectionals, Callahan, McMahon, Sirois, Fiermonte, and Caruso went on to the State Championships.

Although the season was not full of team victories, each swimmer worked hard at practices, and this showed in the meets. Having a team made up of so much young talent, Bishop Fenwick hopes to see more of them and coach Earl in the future. The Swimming and Diving team will continue to strive as long as it keeps the spirit and strength it had this year. In addition to the spirit, the swimmers also appreciate the support and coaching of Marci Earl and are looking forward to working with her next year.

Coming Down the Mountain

The Girls' Ski Team once again put in an all out effort in this, their eighth year of competition on the steep slopes of Bradford Hill. Mr. James Day returned to coach the team, and he was aided by Mr. Cuniff's expertise. The coaches showed the proper skills techniques, sharpened the girls' skills, and waxed their skis, preparing the team for its races.

Dawn Marino placed nineteenth overall in the North Shore Ski League and was Fenwick's top scorer as well as a captain for the team. Cailin Kelleher, also a captain, placed second for the team, followed by Amy Sozanski and Jessica McKenzie. Although the team is only losing four seniors this year, they will be missed. The four are Kelleher, Marino, Adrienne Allen, and captain Jennifer Capistran. While the girls were racing downhill at tremendous speed, the season flew by as well. Now it's time to tune the skis for next season for a dedicated group of returning girls, both on and off the slopes.

The 1993 season for the Bishop Fenwick Boys' Ski Team may not have been successful as far as wins, yet the boys kept their spirit and had a great time. This year, the team was led by junior captain Jesse Gawrys, who was also a leading scorer for Fenwick.

The team faced some tough competition, skiing against such perennial powers as St. John's Prep and North Andover High School. Fenwick is not on the same level of competitiveness as teams like these; at Fenwick, no one gets cut from the ski team. Many skiers had little experience, but with the help of the coaches, everyone was able to sharpen their skills and improve their techniques.

With many skiers returning, next season is a promising one, and the ski team is looking forward to it with great enthusiasm.

Life in the Fast Lane

The Girls' Track Team made an enormous come back this winter after last year's disappointing record of 1-6. With the support of Coach Jack Farley and a team made up of mostly underclassmen, the girls were able to post a respectable 5-3 record. Captains Katie Gomes, Lisa Congiamila, and Stephanie Poulin led the team through a successful season. Other seniors who competed include Christina Burke and Melanie Segal.

At the Varsity League Meet held at Wayland High School, the girls' team finished seventh overall. Kristen Picone (shotput), Shawna Murphy (hurdles), Cindy Warde (2 mile), Kerry Wynne (mile), and Grace-Marie Magnarelli (mile) all had strong performances. Through hard work and dedication, many runners went on to compete in the State Class Meet at Harvard.

Individual drive and determination pushed every runner to do her best. However, these were not the only factors in this rewarding season. Support and understanding from other teammates is also vital to becoming a successful runner, and each member of the team got this support this winter, plenty of this. With a large number of talented runners returning, next year's track team should be another success.

On the Right Track

The Boys' Track team, hoping for a better season performance than last year's, had their wish come true despite their 3-5 record. Records do not always show the true dedication and hard work of the team.

Tri-captains Eric Dugan, Ted Manley, and Kevin Farley led the boys' team along with other members of the senior class Ed Mercier, Tom Fitzgerald, Sean Murphy, Damon Deluties, and Dave Limongello. With the guidance of Coach Jack Farley, the team had excellent performances throughout the season in the tough Dual County League. Sean Spates, Rich Avery, and Matt Jaworswicks all had outstanding individual performances during the season.

In the Varsity League Meet, the boys placed seventh overall. Sophomore Steve Lowe had another successful season in the 2-mile again this year. Hard work and endurance pulled the boys' team off the ground, allowing the seniors to depart feeling accomplished and proud of their season. Next year will be an important one, and with the large number of underclassmen returning, it should have an excellent outcome.

Swinging into Action

In only its third year season of competition, the gymnastics team has shown great improvement because of its members' ability, spunk, and personality. The team has done considerably well despite stiff competition and inexperience. This year, with only three losses; one to the defending state champs Peabody and another to the State Championship contender Beverly, the team succeeded in making it a winning season.

One factor in the team's success was the coaching of Fenwick graduates Michelle McMath and Lisa McCabe. Under their leadership and that of captain Johanna Saratora, the team came close to qualifying for the Sectionals competition in Stoneham. Although the team itself did not qualify, two individual members of the team did, Sophomore sisters Elaine and Elyse Keith, who were consistently the teams top row two scorers, each competed in two events at the competition.

The key to the teams 4-3 record was its depth. Consistent performances were given by other team members Meaghan Haight and Amy Jodoin. The team's unexpected strength surprised their opponents and was evidenced when the team scored 127.5 points, its highest point total ever, at the last meet of the season against Beverly, who only won by eight points.

With all of the members returning next year with the exception of one a senior, the gymnastics team expects to make their next season even more of a success than this one.

LIGHTS — CAMERA — ACTION!

AN ACTOR OR ACTRESS, TALENTED THOUGH HE OR SHE MAY BE, WILL NOT BECOME A HOUSEHOLD NAME WITHOUT PUBLICITY. IT IS THE JOB OF AGENTS, THEREFORE, TO SUCCESSFULLY PROMOTE THEIR CLIENTS. OFTEN THE PROMOTION TECHNIQUES THE AGENTS USE INCLUDE SENDING THEIR CLIENTS TO VARIOUS "HOT SPOTS" AT WHICH THEIR CLIENTS' PICTURES CAN BE TAKEN BY THE MANY PHOTOGRAPHERS WHO EAGERLY VIE FOR THE CHANCE TO GET A SHOT OF A STAR.

THE AGENTS AT THE FENWICK STUDIOS KNOW WHERE TO SEND THEIR CLIENTS FOR THIS PUBLICITY. THEY ARE WELL ACQUAINTED WITH THE BEST NIGHT CLUBS AND RESTAURANTS THAT FENWICK HAS TO OFFER. NOT ONLY DO THESE PLACES SERVE AS A USEFUL TOOL FOR ATTAINING PUBLICITY, BUT THEY ALSO AFFORD THE CLIENTS WITH WONDERFUL ENTERTAINMENT. OFTEN CLIENTS WILL RUB SHOULDERS WITH SINGERS, POLITICIANS, AND OTHER ACTORS. THEY WILL CLINK GLASSES WITH SOME OF THE MOST FAMOUS PEOPLE IN THE WORLD. SOON THEIR NAMES WILL BE ASSOCIATED WITH PEOPLE WHOSE STARDOM IS ALREADY SECURED. IN THE END, THEIR NAMES TOO WILL BECOME SYNONYMOUS WITH GLAMOUR AND STARDOM.

FENWICK WOULD NOT BE COMPLETE WITHOUT THE MANY CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS TO WHICH STARS EAGERLY FLOCK. THEY ADD EXCITEMENT TO THE FENWICK LIFE, AND AFFORD STARS WITH JOY AND EVERLASTING ENTERTAINMENT.

Politically Correct

Fenwick's Student Council is arguably the most active and influential extra-curricular activity in the school. Its members — homeroom representatives, class presidents and vice-presidents, and various student body officers — are elected by their peers and expected to serve to the best of their abilities. Anyone else who wishes to be involved with the various decisions and functions of the Student Council (otherwise known as the SAC) may join one of the many committees, which are composed of volunteers.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Kathleen Callahan, the members of the SAC plan various fundraisers involving members of every class. The SAC also organizes dances such as the Halloween and Valentine's Day celebrations, the ever-popular dress-down days, where the right to wear jeans, dress shorts, and sweatshirts (but no T-shirts with writing) may be bought for a mere dollar, which goes to various causes at Fenwick, are another SAC innovation. These activities help raise funds for the SAC, which in turn spends the money on other social events.

For those who aren't necessarily cut out to be professional high school politicians, the volunteer committees provide a way to get involved without having to lead large amounts of people. The Social committee does the actual work of planning dances — decorating, hiring a DJ, and promoting the wonders of the Fenwick caf as night club. The Athletic Committee is charged with the responsibility of building school spirit via Spirit Week, arranging transportation to Fenwick away games, and otherwise increasing interest in Fenwick's sports program. If the sporting life isn't quite your speed, perhaps the Cultural Committee is more your forte. The committee plans and sponsors many fine-arts events during the year — for example, this year's trip to Boston to see The Phantom of the Opera. The unique functions of each of these committees serve to get the entire school interested in making the most of the Fenwick experience.

So, whether you're the next Bill Clinton or the politically-indecisive Ross Perot type, you can find an SAC position or a committee to suit your tastes. All of these jobs have one thing in common, however — they highlight some of Fenwick's talented and active students, helping to improve the school community. Hope to see your name on the SAC ballots in 1993-94.

Getting Involved

There are many ways in which a student at Fenwick may become involved. Fenwick offers various committees that have been formed as a result of a myriad of student interests. Whether you want to plan a school dance, see a play, or save a nation, there are committees that share these same objectives.

For example, if your interests lie in dancing, decorating, and basically partying the night away, then perhaps the Social Committee is for you. The Social Committee meets regularly to plan the dances at Fenwick. The members of the Social Committee are in charge of publicity, ticket sales, music, and decorations for each dance. From the ghoulishly fun atmosphere they created for the Halloween Dance, to the festive spirit of the Christmas Cotillion, the members of the Social Committee know how to set the stage for fun.

If you're not solely into learning the latest dance craze, then perhaps the Athletic Committee is more in your league. The Athletic Committee coordinates buses for away games and stimulates support for Fenwick's athletes. The Athletic Committee is probably best known for the work it does during Spirit Week. This week is spent in preparation for the Pep Rally. Each class competes, through the decorating of the cafeteria, to see which class can demonstrate the greatest school spirit. The Pep Rally itself consists of skits performed by members of each class, music, and a lot of yelling. The week ends with the traditional Thanksgiving football game. The Athletic Committee is a way for students to funnel their spirit in support of Fenwick's athletes.

If you wish to help others and learn more about the world then perhaps Amnesty International would interest you. Amnesty International is an organization dedicated to protecting the rights of all people. Members of Amnesty strive to ensure that people everywhere are guaranteed the rights that many of us take for granted; such as freedom of speech, right to a fair trial, etc. Amnesty chapters are sent information about the many cases of human rights violations that take place in the world. The members of Amnesty write letters to the leaders of the countries where these violations occur. By drawing international attention to the atrocities that take place in these countries, Amnesty often succeeds in forcing these leaders to release, and in some cases to provide protection for, the victims of such human rights crimes. In the past, members of Fenwick's Amnesty chapter have attended human rights rallies and seminars. This year Amnesty members went to Temple Beth Shalom in Peabody to attend a presentation on the Holocaust. A Holocaust survivor spoke about his own experiences. Amnesty International is a reminder that often what we consider to be basic human rights are not so basic for others in our world.

Last, but certainly not least, is Fenwick's Cultural Committee. For those who thirst for culture, this is the committee to join. The Cultural Committee plans field trips to museums, plays, and other cultural events throughout the year.

The diverse aspects and goals of each committee reflect the diversity of interests at Fenwick. With so many committees to join, students can easily find a place where they can fit in.

Homecoming '92

For the first time in recent Fenwick history, our school celebrated its thirtieth anniversary with a homecoming. The events began with the Alumni Pub night and continued the next day with a road race. Alumni and their families then joined present Fenwick students for a pre-game cook-out. There were games and facepainting for the kids. Every class decorated a car for the half-time celebration. After this parade, the homecoming court followed. The members included Cara Murtagh, Katie Gomes, Katie Collins, Marc Ortins, David Limongiello, and Patrick Greehan. Charles Lipsett and Cassandra Collins were crowned king and queen. To top off this fun day, the Crusaders seat against Arlington Catholic with the support of an enthusiastic crowd. Hopefully, the success of this Homecoming will continue in the years to follow.

Making A Difference

In late January 1992, a group of Fenwick students spent a day at the MIAA headquarters in Milford for a one day workshop on drug and alcohol abuse. One of the survey questions asked was "In my school there is strong support for choosing not to use drugs." This created various responses from Fenwick students. Subsequently the students and Miss Sullivan decided to form S.W.I.T.C.H., Students With Interest In Total Chemical Health. The group's main goal is promoting a visible presence here at Fenwick that highlights the value of being drug and alcohol free.

In December, S.W.I.T.C.H. held its first meeting open to all Fenwick students.

Students responded variously by contributing their experiences and opinions. Miss Sullivan, S.W.I.T.C.H. moderator, said, "My feeling is that teenagers make all kinds of choices in terms of social activities and behavior. More and more teenagers seem to get the message that everyone in high school gets involved in 'partying'. I've found that working with students, that's not always true. Many students who are active in anything from sports to drama often choose not to use drugs and alcohol and that other students need to know and hear that more clearly."

In the Spotlight

The Bishop Fenwick Drama Club is the largest club at Fenwick. It is a facet through which students from all classes can demonstrate their theatrical talents. Whether behind the scenes or on stage, students contribute to the success of each production.

Each year the members of the Drama Club elect officers to assist Mr. Sousa. This year's officers were Lisa Geraghty (President), Alice Reagan (Vice President), Sarah Flynn and Amanda Rossi (Secretaries), and Rebecca Farrell (Treasurer).

The Drama Club presents two productions each year: The Fall Show and the Spring Musical. This year's Fall Show was Bye Bye Birdie! was directed by Mr. Robert Sousa, with the assistance of Mr. Jeffrey Patch as musical director. Mr. Sousa is the director of the Drama Club as well. The students involved in the productions received great praise for the obvious hard work and the resulting success of each show.

Cleaning Up the Planet

The Environmental Committee is a rather small but very important group at Fenwick. Under the leadership of Mr. Kotch and Mr. Hillner, the committee concentrates on the increasing environmental problems in our world around us.

From trying to deter the cafeteria from using styrofoam cups and plates to President Kristen Anderson's reports on animal tested products, the group keeps up on the latest environmental issues. Trips open to anyone in the school, such as the mountain hiking trip to Mount Chocura in New Hampshire, give all the students at Fenwick a chance to become aware of our natural world.

As the state of our environment becomes increasingly worse, the need for groups like the Environmental Committee become important if we are to stay informed about the issues that affect our world.

— Sheila McGoldrick

"Lending A Hand"

The Outreach Committee at Bishop Fenwick is comprised of many individuals who work together to make some peoples' lives brighter. Under the direction of Sr. Lisette Michaud, SSCH, the Outreach Committee give of their own time and free will to help others.

The Outreach Committee helps out at the Haven From Hunger usually once a month and serves a nice meal to the less fortunate. It is a very fulfilling experience for those students who participate.

Outreach also reaches out to the elderly in nursing homes. The Outreach Committee goes to a nursing home at Christmas time and they sing Christmas carols. Outreach also celebrates Halloween and visits a nursing home. They have a Halloween party and each student dresses up in a costume.

The Outreach committee also helps to get Bishop Fenwick involved with the collection of canned foods. Bishop Fenwick's Thanksgiving food drive has been a great success over the years and the food is delivered to surrounding communities who are in need.

The Outreach Committee has also put together the Adopt-a-Child program. This is a program in which each student at Christmas may sponsor a needy child and buy them a present. It is truly a season of giving and happiness to be able to help someone else who is less fortunate.

As one can see, the Outreach Committee is a very dedicated group of students that are always willing to "lend a hand."

— Melissa Lang

May The Spirit Be With You

The meetings to plan Spirit Week start as early as September to prepare for one of the student's favorite events of the year. Everyone has an opportunity to utilize their talents, whether it be in drawing, dancing, acting, or just organizing a theme for the skit and the wall decorating to represent their class.

The Athletic Committee has a lot of their own planning to do to make sure that everything goes smoothly. The pep rally is a chance to give recognition to all senior fall athletes for their final season. The senior football players are honored and can get pumped up for the upcoming Thanksgiving Day game.

The crowd went wild when it was time to start the skits. The Freshman class made their first skit at Fenwick "The Austin Mash." The sophomores and juniors used their own comical versions of popular television shows, "Arsenio Hall" and "Married With Children", respectively, to amuse the crowd. The victorious seniors were "out of this world", entertaining the students and teachers alike with their impression of "Wayne's World."

The football cheerleaders put on the final show, impressing everyone with their energetic routines. As always, Spirit Week electrified the audience and fostered a sense of school pride in all of us.

— Liz Castagneto

Clockwise: Excellent! Doug Lowe and Adam Scarcella do their best impression of Wayne's World. Such Concentration. Erin Smith makes sure her cutting is perfect. Young Picasso. Perry Hallinan sketches another famous work of art.

Clockwise: Cooperation. Members of the senior class are hard at work decorating their wall. "That should do it!" Darren Rillovick puts the finishing touches on the decorating. "Let me help." Casey Ryan and Shannon Fouhey look on as Jim Schunemann paints a masterpiece. It's Arsenioooooo Hall! James Binari interviews members of the sophomore class in their skit. "Give me an F!" Fenwick's champion cheerleaders show their spirit.

Solving For Success

The algebraic equation "Effort (Members + Advisors) = Success" demonstrates the way the Fenwick Math Club solves for success at every meet. While it is rumored that some students participate in the hopes of receiving extra credit or free snacks, it is generally accepted that the team members have a genuine love of mathematics and solving analytical problems along with a desire to become more proficient in these areas.

The advisors of the Math Club extend their teaching expertise outside the classroom. Mrs. Russo oversees the in-school math meets while Mrs. Varoudakis monitors the teams during the travelling meets held at various schools during the year. Fenwick is the host of one such meet during the year as our school extends its hospitality to visiting students. The leadership of the advisors helps greatly during these meets, almost as much as the calculators they give out.

It is the effort and perseverance of the members and advisors that enable the math club to be successful. There are weekly practices held in addition to the monthly meets. The time everyone puts in, as well as their willingness to work show that the math club knows the proper methods to solve for success.

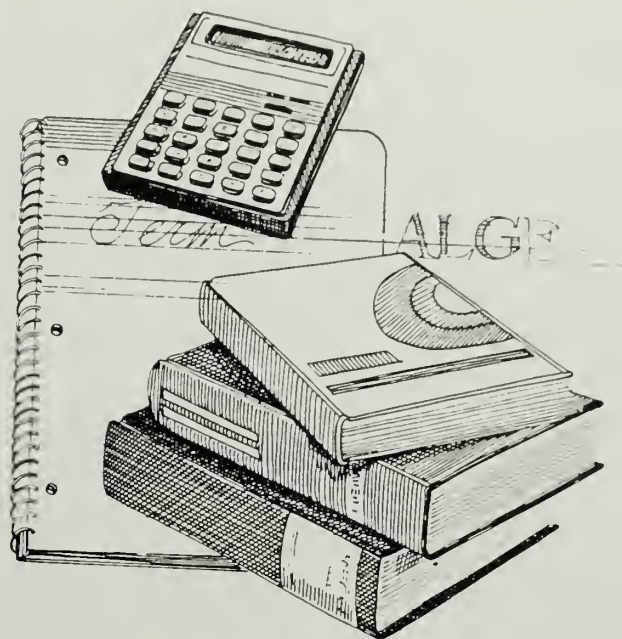

— Jiffy Capistran

The Fine Print

The Crusader Chronicle, Fenwick's student newspaper, is subtitled "The voice of the Fenwick community." Indeed, it is an excellent forum through which students may express their opinions and others may read about the latest occurrences at Fenwick.

This year marks the third year of the newspaper's existence. The eight-page paper is published every few months with the appreciated assistance of the Beverly Times. Mr. Robert Sousa serves as advisor to the newspaper staff.

The Crusader Chronicle features a special senior edition at the end of each school year. Articles in this issue describe the many accomplishments the graduating class has achieved over the past four years. The issue is a tribute to the seniors as well as a way for the remaining students and teachers at Fenwick to bid farewell.

"I'm so happy" Heather Sullivan loves being a newspaper editor.

Behind the Lens

The Video Club is an organization that tapes the school events. Under the supervision Mr. Anthony Juliano, the club tapes school plays, the Christmas and Spring Concerts, senior activities such as Operation Charlie and freshman/senior buddy day, as well as other special activities.

The club provides any class or club with their own taped events. The club also tapes any athletic activities for post-game analysis. At the end of the year, the Video Club has most of the senior activities on tape and sells it to the seniors as a fund-raiser to replace equipment that was lost during the year.

Everyone involved in the club has a job to do, whether you are the president or just someone who tapes a game on Saturday.

Screenwriters and Stagehands

From the preliminary discussions about choosing a theme to the closing days of last-minute work, the 1993 yearbook staff worked hard to produce a tome detailing the exploits of each class. The problems faced along the way by the "rookie" editors were overcome by dedication, persistence, and a great deal of enthusiasm. As a result, although few deadlines were actually met, the yearbook created something that this year's senior class can be proud of in the future.

Under the leadership of advisor Mr. Bloom, editor-in-chief Janice Barlow, and assistant editor-in-chief Heather Sullivan, the editorial staff went from tentative ideas to finished product in eight months. Literary Editor Lisa Geraghty wrote each one of the pieces that introduce each section, while Perry Hallinan and the art staff put pencils to paper and designed the pictures to go with Lisa's words. Tara Catanzano, Photography Editor, took pictures of Fenwick's finest doing what they do best; Andrea Albanese and Erin Smith, aided by the members of the layout staff, decided where each of those pictures should go on the page. Jaci Lawrence and Chris Ialuna identified every student in the school in their roles as Senior and Underclassmen section editors, respectively. Liz Castagneto covered Fenwick's clubs and events as the Activities editor; on the athletic side, Angelica Fisichella, Sports Editor, performed the monumental task of recording the feats of the fall and winter teams. Nicole Peppe dutifully sorted through pictures and articles about teachers and courses (while providing the occasional sarcastic comment) as the Academics editor. Last, but most certainly not least, Melissa Lang dealt with the Business end of things, while Jen Capistran typed her fingers to the bone as Production Editor. Each editor's varying talents and responsibilities contributed to the completion of a successful yearbook.

Yearbook has never been as widely recognized or applauded as other sports or activities; no one plasters the office with crepe paper the day before a deadline, or puts up posters as they await the arrival of Guy, the yearbook rep. It requires a special kind of person to willingly spend many hours, even on weekends and during vacations, in an office that resembles the Twilight Zone (note to future staff members: A clock and a pencil sharpener are must-buy items). This year's staff proved to everyone that they were up to the challenge of working hard for little recognition, save the thrill of opening up their yearbooks and being able to say, "I helped make this." Special people indeed.

Our Fair Lady

This year, the world of Hollywood lost one of its premier stars, one whose friends and family called her “a little sun.” Audrey Hepburn, who died of cancer in January, presents a model of courage, dedication, and service that few other celebrities have managed to equal. Her success came, not with the arrogance of some stars, but with a combination of love, attention, and professional poise.

Hepburn was born in 1929, the daughter of a bank director and a Dutch baroness. Although she adored her father and stayed with him after her parents’ marriage dissolved, Hepburn was never returned the kind of love she felt for him. Eventually, on returning to Holland with her mother, Hepburn was caught up in the Nazi invasion of that country. Incredibly, through long suffering and dangerous work supporting the Allies, the brave young woman managed to survive and go on to shine in European theatre.

Hepburn made her Broadway debut playing Gigi in a musical adaptation of the novella of the same name. Her movie debut came in the film One Wild Out (1951), but her triumph came two years later. The film Roman Holiday (1953) won Hepburn her first and only Oscar: in the next several years, she garnered three more nominations. Along the way, she starred in such notable works as Breakfast at Tiffany’s (1961) and My Fair Lady (1964). Both films helped cement Hepburn’s reputation as the eternal gamine, a naive and playful innocent who never failed to be bemused by the ways of society at large.

Hepburn’s private life was never as simple and carefree as the lives of her characters were. The experience of being rejected by her father as a teenager wounded her deeply, and she spent the rest of her life trying to make up for the affection she had never known. She had two husbands: actor Mel Ferrer, whom she divorced in 1968 after a brief affair with Albert Finney; and Andrea Dotti, an Italian psychiatrist. Hepburn had two children, both sons — Sean Ferrer and Luca Dotti. Her ex-husbands (she divorced Dotti because of his infidelity), her companion Robert Wolders, and her sons all stood by during Hepburn’s final hours.

In the final analysis, Hepburn was the quintessential Hollywood queen — captivating both onstage and off, yet vulnerable. She loved children, even doing UNICEF service tours of drought- and famine-ridden countries to spread hope and good will. Her strength lay in her ability to hide her own pain while convincing others that life, while often beguiling, could also be glamorous and almost dreamlike in its way. Audrey Hepburn presented the essence of Hollywood — a place where the sun never goes down — to generations of filmgoers, and for that the world will always remember her.

Poet's Corner

"Never"

Beginning.
Darkness.
I breathe softly.
Silence.
Alone. Kneeling.
My hands together in supplication,
desperately clinging to each other for warmth. For strength.
Eyes closed.
My lips tremble.
Silence.
Cold. Shaking.
My head bent down with the weight of sorrow,
awaiting the mighty stroke
that will end all.
Thunder.
My heart aches.
Silence.
Alone. Standing.
My soul cries out in response to the pain,
to rend the wall of silence.
Unheard. Silent.
Raining.
I am dead.
Silence.
Alone. Knowing.
The rain beats down in merciless torrents,
to wash away all signs of being.
Darkness. Silent.
Beginning.

— by Lisa Geraghty

Two faces to a clock,
Two sides to a coin,
Two tales to every story,
Two hands that join.

There is no one in life,
Everything has its double.
There is no one, there's only two,
And if there's one who says different, then I ask who?

Two eyes on a face,
That look right through you,
What they see is so different from what two ears do hear about you.

People judge so quickly,
Never looking deep down and learning.
I have learned to a wait,
And not to hesitate, to figure out who's inside and what it is you're trying to hide.

There is no one in life,
There is only two,
Two sides to every person, even you.

"The Day I Took the Elevator"

The day I took the elevator,
I'll tell you, It was cool.
It went straight up, at the press of a button,
Directly to the pool.
When I stepped out,
Before my eyes, was a sight I could not believe,
My fellow students wading about —
I wish I had this free.
They coaxed me in, I couldn't stay long,
But alas it looked so tempting.
I left my sweater by the side of the pool,
And practiced my breast stroking.
Unfortunately, with the ring of a bell,
My fantasy could not last.
Perhaps sometime I'll take you too,
Would you like to buy a pass?

— by Renée Darisse

"Awaken the Senses"

To you I ask
Not to hear my ears with your ears
But to listen to them with your heart,
Not to hold me in your arms
But to embrace me with your soul,
Not to tell me of your dreams
But to envelop me in your imagination,
And not to show me where I will be free
But to lead me there.

— by Nicole D'Andrea

How is it that we
Can say goodbye
And go our separate ways?
We each know
Where we will go,
But is it forever where we will stay?

And our hearts,
Where will they be?
Will we take it all with us —
Our memories, our souls, our love?
Will I fly away with these, a solitary dove,
Or will we stay connected, with fond thoughts to discuss?

We will always be a part of each other,
In good ways and bad,
These events are real, complexity they do not lack.
But these times are changing fast,
We must try to look forward, we must seize these moments
while they last,

For we can never get these times together back.

"The River's Secret"

The day we met, the clouds were high.
The sunlight couldn't pass through.
Years later, the rain comes down in sheets,
washing away the last few seeds of spring's crop.

Nothing changed. No one died or left.
The river still plays the same soft music,
the bullfrog crows croaks, the fish lays eggs and leaves for upstream. The day ends in an instance.

Sunrise awakens the flowers. The bees get their fill while the river calmly flows.
I walk along the bank, smelling the dew from the leaves.
The day is not cold.

The sun's rays reflect the top layer of the river, warming the air. A smile appears on my face as I continue walking. Suddenly,
I turn around and head back.

Why? Only the river knows. The secret is in the air, travelling like a train, making Frequent stops. Pay the price to learn the secret or live without the river forevermore.

— by Emily Charette

When I begin crying,
My head fills up with pleasing dreams
Of rainbows intersecting with muddy Ships and blood in the war like the song says, the sum of the grades will be soul food forever.

— by Jamie Sobolesky

Join me to go behind the open door!
Go slow as though curious dreaming,
Like a fire they touch upon each other,
Fast asleep in a parallel world.
Alive and stranded in an isosceles triangle.
The roots on fire as though a sad song
sung shivering.
My dream of an unbound skew.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

- . . . The indestructible float built for the 75th Jubilee was destroyed by the rain.
- . . . You were a freshman at senior buddy day.
- . . . Father Jim told a funny joke.
- . . . Homeroom teachers had to check their rooms for a mysterious bomb.
- . . . Darren made his colorful election speech.
- . . . The football rally actually had something to do with football.
- . . . The soccer team lost their hair.
- . . . Mr. Dennis didn't sing.
- . . . The mad dogs were born.
- . . . The boys basketball team miraculously beat the Prep.
- . . . The girls basketball team played at Boston Garden.
- . . . We didn't have snow days.
- . . . The girls softball team won the state title three years in a row.
- . . . Mr. Hillner gave out ridiculous nicknames.
- . . . Mr. K. led a coup in Mexico.
- . . . You didn't have homework over vacation.
- . . . Super Principal paid a visit to our school.
- . . . Fenwick had a pool.
- . . . We had Fenwick dances.
- . . . Lectures were a place where no Freshman had gone before.
- . . . Mr. Guido carried a beeper.
- . . . Mr. Hillner carried a beeper.
- . . . Skidz were the official uniform for Freshmen.
- . . . Mr. Sousa went away to war.
- . . . The Freshmen Road block was bigger than life.
- . . . Fr. Jim's handshakes would never end.
- . . . We thought graduation was so far away.

At the end of each Hollywood production there is a long list of closing credits. The list serves to give recognition to those who assisted in the completion of the production. It is a reminder to the audience that the success of a production does not rely on the actors and actresses alone. Numerous other people work behind the scenes to ensure that the project's outcome is as near to the goal of perfection that they set for themselves before taping for the production initially began.

Along with the names of those who directly worked on the production are the names of the sponsors who assisted by providing the funds needed to complete the film. Costs for production are extremely high; sponsors are taking a risk when they donate the money necessary to aid a certain project. They are making a bet that the production they are funding will be successful. If they lose this bet then they could lose their money as well.

At the Fenwick Studios, the Fenwick executives are deeply grateful to the people who sponsor Fenwick productions. Often a sponsor's name appears in the closing credits of more than just one Fenwick production. It is obvious, therefore, that Fenwick's patrons have a great respect for what Fenwick has achieved; they are well aware of the high standards of excellence that all those working at the Fenwick Studios strive to reach. Each time they sponsor a Fenwick production, they will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are not just sponsoring one production, but that they are sponsoring excellence.
